

Invitation to the 7th networking event

“Participation for more Sustainability – What opportunities for participation do young people need?”

Dear colleagues, students, and all members of JMU,

We warmly invite you to the 7th networking meeting “Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) in Studies and Teaching”, which will take place on Monday, November 4th, 2024, from 5.00 to 6.30 p.m. The focus will be on the question: “Participation for more Sustainability – What opportunities for participation do young people need?”. A lot has happened at JMU in the field of education for sustainable development since the last networking meeting in June 2024. The higher education didactics certificate program “Hochschulbildung für nachhaltige Entwicklung” (Higher Education for Sustainable Development) is entering its second semester. In addition, JMU decided on its Strategy for Sustainability in August, in which ESD plays a central role.

We are pleased to present a keynote speech by Prof. Dr. Anne-Katrin Holfelder and Marcel Schröder, B.Sc. from the University of Bamberg as one part of the meeting. The lecture will focus on participation opportunities for young people.

This invitation is addressed to all teaching staff, students and employees of the University of Würzburg as well as all those interested in higher education for sustainable development.
